Fear of eastern jealousy killed Expo: Documents

► Feds initially supported Edmonton's bid for Expo 2017 ► Pitch included Edmonton as focal point for Canada's 150th anniversary

Talk of jealousy quashing Edmonton's bid to host Expo 2017 angered Mayor Stephen Mandel on Wednesday.

"I'm not surprised," he said, after hearing of reports the Harper government withdrew its support due to fears of jealousy from eastern provinces. "We were incredibly disappointed when the federal government made a decision not to support our bid, but even more so seeing that it was a political decision rather than the decision they indicated to us."

Back in November, Heritage Minister James Moore said an estimated cost of $1 billion was the reason — a number Mandel said is "absolutely ludicrous."

According to documents obtained for Postmedia News, Edmonton's bid was initially supported at the federal level.

But they also state: "An anchor in Western Canada could lead to a request for a large-scale expenditure in Eastern Canada."

"It hasn't changed my opinion on what happened or how we were treated," said Mandel. "This just verifies it that the federal government is more concerned about Eastern Canada than Western Canada even when they have 27 out of 28 seats in Alberta."

Mandel said he hasn't spoken to Edmonton-Spruce Grove MP Rona Ambrose since the November decision, when he publicly expressed anger with her for not standing up for the city's bid.

Ambrose's office issued a statement Wednesday: "The proposal was carefully reviewed and there were many concerns about the

About the Expo bid

- The city and province spent $3.5 million on the Expo 2017 bid, which Mayor Stephen Mandel wants back from the federal government.
- Energy was the proposed theme for the event, which the documents revealed on Wednesday stated as "risky."
- Montreal hosted the Expo in 1967.
- Astana, Kazakhstan and Leige, Belgium, have submitted official bids for Expo 2017.

high cost of this project."

But Mandel said he thinks Edmonton was treated unfairly. "I'll never get over it," he said.

Search for missing a question of time: Police

Const. Jim Gurney of the Edmonton Police Service's missing-persons unit knows every minute counts when someone disappears.

Three and a half years into the job with the unit, Gurney said he's yet to see a missing person found after months or years of investigating.

"The reality is, in any police investigation, if you've devoted a lot of time and resources and not found them, it's probably not going to be a happy ending."

He credits the RCMP investigators for their diligence in the search for Lyle and Marie McCann, who will have been missing a full year on July 3.

"If we can't find the person or learn what happened to them in the first few days ... there's usually something else going on," said Gurney, adding potential foul play or a deliberate disappearance are considered first.

But progress has been made this year that will help in future investigations.

"One thing we are excited about that hasn't impacted us yet, but will, is Bill 8," he said, referring to a pending law allowing access to missing persons' bank and phone records.

With the anniversary of his parents' disappearance looming this weekend, Bret McCann wants closure.

Lyle and Marie McCann were last seen gassing up at a St. Albert Superstore July 3, 2010.

Their burning RV was found July 12, and their SUV was found July 16 near Edson.

"It's been a nightmare," said Bret. "We've come to accept my parents have passed."

But he is optimistic that details about the seniors' last hours or days will be revealed, and he believes multiple people are responsible for the fate of his parents.

The family is offering a $60,000 reward for information leading to the couple, he added.

New searches last week included one in Lodgepole, one of four in Alberta recently.

The year has been a long one for everyone since his parents went off the radar during their planned trip to Abbotsford, B.C., Bret said.

"The lead investigator summed it up by saying this has been painstakingly technical and slow," he said, lauding the efforts of police.

Bret hopes someone will speak up soon.

"Even if someone wasn't involved but knows or saw something," he said.

Police have identified Travis Vader, 29, as a suspect. Vader is facing 16 unrelated charges.

ALBERTA'S BOTTOM LINE

Deficit lower than expected

Alberta's bottom line is looking less saggy, but critics say the province is getting financially fit by blind luck rather than through prudent planning.

Finance Minister Lloyd Snelgrove announced Wednesday that the province posted a $3.4-billion deficit in the fiscal year that ended March 31. That's $1.3 billion less than the projected deficit of $4.7 billion.

Snelgrove credited higher royalties from oil-sands operations, along with departmental cost cutting. The governing Conservatives are also stretching out some capital construction projects to save money.

"We've held the line on spending," Snelgrove told a news conference at the legislature. "Alberta continues to be in one of the strongest positions of all the Canadian jurisdictions."

Revenue from Crown leases and investment income were also higher than projected.

Snelgrove rejected suggestions from opposition politicians that Premier Ed Stelmach's government was simply fortunate because the price of oil — Alberta's industrial staple — is rising.

"You hunt where the ducks are," he said. "We're sitting on one of the largest deposits of hydrocarbons in the world. It would be folly to not make the best use of that asset that we can."

Snelgrove also announced that the provincial economy grew by 3.8 per cent in fiscal 2010.

Work ongoing to cut city's collision rate

HEATHER MCINTYRE/METRO

► Some intersections with right laneways have been modified — and others will be — to have a stop-and-turn-right system, according to the city's general manager of transportation.

► Half of all car crashes were at intersections last year, say officials

HEATHER MCINTYRE
@METRONEWS.CA

Despite recent reductions, there's nowhere to go but down when it comes to Edmonton's collision rate.

But ongoing work should help the numbers, said transportation boss Bob Boutilier.

Crews are removing two traffic circles and continue to make changes to intersections, where 47 per cent of 28,480 collisions occurred in 2010.

"Some have a right laneway, instead of a T-junction where you would stop," said Boutilier. "People have got into a lot of accidents in those particular areas."

Modifications are done during neighbourhood renewal, repaving and arterial road changes, meaning it could take a few more years to complete. Some intersections with right laneways have been modified with a stop-and-turn-right system.

On Tuesday, Mayor Stephen Mandel expressed concern about the city's in-

Collision causes

► According to city documents, the top-three high-collision intersections in the city last year were 137 Avenue and 97 Street, 118 Avenue and Groat Road, and Yellowhead Trail and 127 Street.

► The top-three collision causes were following too close, striking parked vehicles and improper lane changes.

jury collision rate per 1,000. In 2009, Edmonton's (at 6.65) was higher than those in Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, Winnipeg, Montreal, Calgary and Vancouver.

"The numbers show we're not being very successful," said Mandel.

He wants to see more street-based enforcement such as 24-hour ticket programs and the speed-on-green cameras.

"If nothing works with education and enforcement, then we have to go in and make that technical change," Boutilier added.

Cameras making a come back

Bob Boutilier expects the return of speed-on-green cameras in July to help reduce the number of collisions occurring in the city.

He met with EPS and the Crown to discuss this on Wednesday.

The cameras were yanked earlier this year because of a technical glitch, resulting in $13 million worth of refunded tickets.

Kickin' it with Fleming

► Former Edmonton Eskimo says he would think about returning to the green and gold as part of front office

After 16 seasons and three Grey Cup rings, Sean Fleming hung up his No. 11 Edmonton Eskimos jersey in 2007.

"The good thing about the Eskimos is a lot of the players who become alumni continue to live here, and do a lot of things in the community," said Fleming. "It's certainly a leader among CFL (alumni) associations."

Fleming, now 41, is vice-president of PricewaterhouseCooper, which keeps him busy with travel — and away from Commonwealth Stadium.

"I've probably been to three games," said the former kicker. "But I watch them on TV."

Eskimos CEO and president Rick LeLacheur is on his way out effective Dec. 31, 2012 — and Fleming's name has been mentioned as the perfect fit.

"I never really thought about coaching," said Fleming. "But as far as working in the front office, if that opportunity came up I would certainly consider it."

Community liaison Sgt. Kim Clark said valuables left in cars and unlocked doors make easy targets for thieves.

Gay marriage demanded in Jersey

► Activists say existing civil union law inhibits rights and lawsuit is the only way to solve inequities

Seven gay couples and many of their children filed a lawsuit Wednesday to demand New Jersey recognize gay marriage, saying it's the only way to solve inequities created by the state's four-year-old civil union law.

It comes days after neighbouring state New York became the sixth U.S. state to legalize same-sex marriage.

New Jersey lawmakers created that law to try to fulfil a 2006 state Supreme Court order that committed gay couples be given the same legal protections and benefits as married couples. The couples say that in places like insurance offices and hospital emergency rooms, the civil union doesn't cut it.

Fire stirs fears of nuclear crisis in New Mexico

- Small city of Los Alamos, N.M., evacuated
- U.S. sends high-tech plane to check on radiation

The U.S. government sent a plane equipped with radiation monitors over the Los Alamos nuclear laboratory Wednesday as a 285-square-kilometre wildfire burned at its doorstep, putting thousands of scientific experiments on hold.

The plane, which can take digital photographs and video as well as thermal and night images, was sent to New York City to take air samples after the Sept. 11 terror attacks.

It has flown over wildfires and areas damaged by hurricane Katrina.

In a testament to the sophisticated research done at Los Alamos, the plane was developed with technology from the lab, the desert installation that built the Second World War atomic bomb.

Lab officials expressed confidence the Los Alamos blaze would not scatter radioactive material, as some residents feared.

"Our facilities, our nuclear materials are all safe," said lab director Charles McMillan.

Los Alamos, a city of 11,000 in New Mexico, sits empty after its residents were moved to safety.

The streets of Los Alamos were deserted, with the exception of emergency vehicles and National Guard Humvees.

Homeowners who had left were prepared: Cars were left in the middle of parking lots, away from anything flammable.

The lab, which employs about 15,000 people, covers more than 93 square kilometres and includes about 2,000 buildings. They include research facilities, as well as waste-disposal sites.

Residents have expressed concern about the potential of a radioactive smoke plume if the flames reach thousands of barrels of waste stored in above-ground tents at the lab.

"I know people are concerned about what's in the smoke," said Sen. Tom Udall of New Mexico.

The wildfire is stirring memories of a May 2000 blaze that destroyed hundreds of homes and buildings. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Area G is key

- Lab director Charles McMillan said barrels contain low-grade waste (gloves, toolboxes, tools) and other items that may have been contaminated.
- An anti-nuclear group had estimated there could be up to 30,000 55-gallon drums stored at a site known as Area G, but lab spokesperson Heather Clark said Wednesday there are 10,000 drums stored there under fire-retardant tents.

- Los Alamos County Fire Chief Doug Tucker, whose department is responsible for protecting the lab, said the barrels are stacked about three high inside the tents.
- Area G holds drums of cleanup from Cold War-era waste that the lab sends away for storage in weekly shipments, according to lab officials.
- The raging Los Alamos fire has held up vital research on such topics as renewable energy, particle physics and the battle against AIDS.

NO TOXINS RELEASED YET, LAB STAFF SAY

Top lab officials and fire managers say there have been no releases of toxins.

They say they're confident the flames won't reach key buildings or areas where radioactive waste is stored.

As a last resort, they say, foam could be sprayed on barrels containing items that might have been contaminated through contact with radioactive materials.

The site's manager for the National Nuclear Security Administration said he evaluated the precautions and felt comfortable.

"I have 170 people who validate their measures," Kevin Smith said. "They're in steel drums, on a concrete floor."

The fire has already sparked a spot fire at the lab. The fire was quickly contained, and no contamination was released.

Hanged man pardoned 150 years after trial

Gov. Lincoln Chafee yesterday pardoned the last man executed in Rhode Island, an Irish immigrant who was hanged more than 150 years ago following what is believed to be a trial tainted by widespread bigotry against Irish Catholics.

John Gordon was convicted of killing Amasa Sprague, a wealthy mill owner and the brother of a U.S. senator. Gordon was hanged in 1845 at the age of 29. But law professors and historians now say the evidence against him was circumstantial.

Chafee signed the proclamation pardoning Gordon at the Old State House in Providence, where Gordon's trial took place. The governor called Gordon's execution a "dark spot" in Rhode Island history. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turtles bring air travel to a crawl

Several pilots tried to contain chuckles while reporting hundreds of turtles blocking N.Y.C. runway

About 150 turtles crawled onto the tarmac at New York's Kennedy airport Wednesday in search of beaches to lay their eggs, delaying dozens of flights, aviation authorities said.

The slow-motion stampede began at about 6:45 a.m., and within three hours there were so many turtles on Runway 4L that controllers were forced to move departing flights to another runway.

"We ceded to Mother Nature," said Ron Marsico, a spokesman for the Port Authority of New York.

and moving them across the airport, he said. Flight delays averaged about 30 minutes, the FAA said.

The migration of diamondback terrapin turtles happens every year at John F. Kennedy International Airport, which is built on the edge of Jamaica Bay and a federally protected park.

Several pilots began reporting turtle sightings at morning rush hour.

"Be advised 30 feet into the takeoff roll, left side of the centre line, there's another turtle," called the pilot of American Airlines Flight 1009, a Boeing 767 that had just taken off for the Dominican Republic.

"There's another one on the runway?" asked the controller.

"Uh, well, he was there," the pilot said as the big airliner climbed into the air.

Man has 'learned his lesson'

► HIV-infected convicted murderer promises to disclose condition and use condoms with future partners

A man believed to be the first person in Canada convicted of murder through HIV transmission has changed his ways and is no longer a threat to the public, his lawyers argued Wednesday.

"He doesn't want to infect anyone else. He has learned his lesson," said Munyonzwe Hamalengwa, the lawyer for Johnson Aziga.

His client has learned a lot about HIV and AIDS after eight years in jail, Hamalengwa added during a hearing to decide if Aziga should be classified a dangerous offender. Aziga wants to help teach others, Hamalengwa added.

The Crown is seeking the dangerous offender designation that could see Aziga jailed indefinitely, and has argued he has an abnormally high libido that could lead him to reoffend. But Hamalengwa said that the designation applies to violent criminals driven by "uncontrollable hormone rage."

Aziga, a 54-year-old Ugandan immigrant and father of three, was convicted in 2009 of two counts of first-degree murder, 10 counts of aggravated sexual assault and one count of attempted aggravated sexual assault. His convictions are related to 11 women with whom he had unprotected sex without telling them he had HIV. Seven of the women became infected, with two dying of AIDS-related cancers.

New Greek vote calms markets

► Austerity measures a decisive step in bailout crisis

Greece approved more austerity measures Wednesday in a vote that calmed markets but triggered a second day of riots that left dozens injured and Athens blanketed with tear gas.

The passage of the bill was a decisive step for the country to get the next batch of bailout loans from international creditors and was met with a huge sigh of relief in markets and by Greece's partners in the eurozone.

A Greek default could potentially trigger a banking crisis, particularly in Europe, and turmoil in global markets.

Another bill was to be passed Thursday for the government to secure the widespread outrage, coming after a year of deep cuts that have seen public-sector salaries and pensions cut and unemployment rise to above 16 per cent.

The European Union and International Monetary Fund have demanded both bills pass before the next instalment of the country's $157-billion bailout fund is released. Without it, Greece would be facing default on its debts by the middle of next month.

"We must avoid the country's collapse with every effort," Prime Minister George Papandreou said before the vote.

NEW HOPE FOR HAIR LOSS

Laser Hair Therapy

USING TLT™

TLT™ is a "new" non-surgical scientific approach for men and women to help control thinning hair, baldness and problems associated with the scalp.

This cold laser creates a soft halo of light around the scalp. Laser hair therapy is a medically tested, safe and proven method using low level laser energy, or "soft cold" laser light to effectively treat and control problem hair loss and encourage new growth.

WILL IT WORK FOR ME?

Laser Therapy is equally effective for both men and women. Most participants will see tangible response within a short period of time after commencing treatment, with results enhanced as the program continues. In fact, past studies have shown a 53% increase in hair among the respondents using Cold Laser Therapy. For those clients not able to come to our clinic on a regular basis, a home laser program is available.

During your initial consultation and assessment, it will be determined if you are a good candidate for Laser Therapy. If so, your results are assured and backed by our exclusive guarantee.

Federal nuclear firm goes private

► Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. sold for $15 million ► Ottawa keeping intellectual-property rights

The federal government has sold nuclear company Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. to Montreal-based engineering giant SNC-Lavalin Group.

Natural Resources Minister Joe Oliver announced the sale late Wednesday. The sale ended at least two years of attempts by Ottawa to privatize AECL.

The sale price was $15 million. Meanwhile, SNC-Lavalin is creating a new division called CANDU Energy to house AECL's three former business lines.

SNC-Lavalin was the sole bidder to meet Ottawa's conditions for buying the financially troubled Crown corporation.

AECL has cost Canadian taxpayers billions of dollars in subsidies, including about $1 billion in the last two years alone.

The company has faced major cost overruns in recent years while struggling to find a buyer.

In 2009, the Conservatives announced plans to spin off AECL's commercial reactor business from its research division.

The announcement coincided with a lengthy shutdown of the company's research reactor at Chalk River, Ont., which caused a worldwide shortage of the medical isotopes used to detect cancer and heart ailments. An earlier shutdown in late 2007 also strained the global isotope supply and ended only after Parliament voted to bypass the nuclear safety regulator's closure order. THE CANADIAN PRESS

A CHOICE OF SINK, SWIM OR FLUTTER

HE SAYS ...

JOHN MAZEROLLE
METRO

As I think about my swimming technique this summer, one skill keeps coming to mind: I should really learn to float.

I have mastered the fundamentals known as the three S's: Standing, squatting and swearing about the water's temperature. And, sometimes, emboldened by back-to-back episodes of Jackass, I let the water come up to my neck.

But despite my derring-do, the fact remains that I'm about as buoyant as a cockpit voice recorder. To me, the butterfly is an animal, the freestyle is rap music and the breaststroke is something you do if you really love your KFC.

The only pool that I have been in recently involved guessing when Will and Kate will get divorced.

My inability to swim is especially embarrassing because I grew up in New Brunswick. "Weren't you born on the water?" people say, frowning at me as if I were a Newfoundlander who just said he doesn't care for whisky.

These people assume I can't swim because I'm scared, but that's not true.

I'm tentative near open waters, but that's because the Atlantic hovers around three degrees Kelvin. It does to your body what your Grade 7 teacher used to do to hotdogs when he took out liquid nitrogen to illustrate the scientific principle of "Breaking stuff into little pieces is cool."

And the water inside was no better: All I learned on school swimming trips was that chlorine is Mother Nature's way of stabbing you in the eyes. (If the Taliban ever harnesses the power of chlorine, every North American will be wandering around with their face squeezed tight and their arms outstretched asking for a towel.)

We did take swimming lessons on school trips, but they generally involved clinging to a flutter board as though we had just departed the Titanic. When the chlorine dissolved the board, the lesson was over.

I could get sulky about this and blame my childhood, but instead I have decided to embrace it: I want to return to my roots and get a flutter board because that's the closest I have been to swimming.

It might seem childish but, heck, they give out beer in sippy cups at hockey games, and those motorcycles with extra wheels seem popular now. Give my board an iPhone colour scheme and an impressive name and I will be fine with it. My Jet-Black Thoroughbred Freedom Board will be the talk of the pool.

And if anyone mocks me, I'm blaming the tears on chlorine.

Worth mentioning

LOS ANGELES. A team of European astronomers, glimpsing back in time to when the universe was just a youngster, says it has detected the most distant and earliest quasar yet.

Light from this brilliant, starlike object took nearly 13 billion years to reach Earth, meaning the quasar existed when the universe was only 770 million years old — a child by cosmic standards. The discovery ranks as the brightest object ever found.

To scientists' surprise, the black hole powering this quasar was two billion times more massive than the sun. How it grew so bulky so early in the universe's history is a mystery. Black holes are known to feed on stars, gas and other matter, but their growth was always thought to be slow.

The discovery was reported in Thursday's issue of the journal Nature. Since quasars are so luminous, they guide astronomers studying the conditions of the cosmos following the Big Bang, the explosion believed to have created the universe 13.7 billion years ago.

Debuting next season — CSI: Dog poop

A Florida condominium association hopes dog DNA samples will help it determine which pet owners aren't picking up after their pooches.

The Village of Abacoa Condominium Association says cleaning up after dog owners who don't clean up after their dogs costs $10,000 to $12,000 US per year.

Starting Aug. 1, residents in the Jupiter, Fla., community must each pay a $200 fee to keep the dogs' genetic information on file at the DNA Pet World Registry. Dog droppings found in common areas will be collected and mailed to the Tennessee-based company for comparison.

The association's property manager says any owner whose dog matches the poop sample will be fined up to $1,000, or a lien could be placed on their homes. A dog that is a persistent problem could be confiscated.

RICHARD
CROUSE &
MARK

SCENE@METRONWS.CA

Movie writer Phil Brown is sitting in for Mark Breslin this week.

Richard Crouse: Phil, Larry Crowne has an old-fashioned feel to it, like a '90s sitcom updated with references from the 2000s. There's something reassuring about seeing old pros Hanks and Roberts effortlessly glide through this like hot knives through butter, but occasionally the material feels a bit out of date.

Phil Brown: The movie seemed too old-fashioned to me and just felt bland. Star power has appeal, but I just can't buy two of the most recognizable movie stars as down-on-their-luck nobodies. Tom Hanks may have an everyman quality, but he looks as out of place working in a department store as Larry the Cable Guy at Harvard.

RC: Maybe so, but Hanks has been playing the Da Vinci Code's oh-so-serious iconology professor Robert Langdon for so long now it's easy to forget that he was once known as an accomplished comedic actor. Here he turns the dial back to movies like Joe and the Volcano, playing a likeable character you want to root for. I enjoyed that, I just found the obvious boomer baiting a bit obvious.

PB: Yeah, it was nice to see him try to be funny again and hopefully it's not the last time. Few do gentle character comedy better. The boomer baiting was frustrating as was the attempt to make overcoming economic crisis seem so easy. If only I'd known before now that the answer to any financial problems I have could be solved by taking a community college level intro to economics course with George Takei.

RC: I actually really liked the movie's offbeat casting. Sure Hanks and Roberts are the above-the-title stars, but they'll only appeal to people who remember when gas cost 54 cents a litre. The rest of the cast is bizarre. Pam Grier? Awesome. Wilmer Valderrama? Well, maybe not awesome, but at least left-of-centre enough to be fun. For all the familiar names in the cast, it was an unfamiliar one that grabbed my attention: Gugu Mbatha-Raw. I think a new star might have been born there.

PB: She has a star quality and I did enjoy seeing Tekei even if his subplot was ridiculous. This is a comfort food movie. For the price of admission you get pretty actors, a comfy moral and a happy ending. There's nothing wrong with cinematic empty calories, I just could have used some realism, edge and creativity.

► Horrible Bosses is a buddy comedy that never gets too dark ► Sudeikis talks to Metro about his new flick

SCENE@METRONWS.CA

Although Jason Sudeikis stars in the new comedy Horrible Bosses, he says in real life he's never worked for a horrible boss.

A short retail career — “It was not my forte,” he says — saw a manager harp on him about “hanger integrity,” which he explains is “the act of making sure all your hangers in a closet or on a clothing rack face the exact same way.” But he doesn't remember her as horrible. “Passive aggressive, yes, and very detail oriented, but horrible, no.”

His current boss, Saturday Night Live head honcho Lorne Michaels, gets more effusive praise. “I picture him laughing a lot,” he says. “I think that is what keeps him so spry.”

In Horrible Bosses, the handsome actor — he's good-looking enough to have dated January Jones! — plays Kurt, who, along with Jason Bateman and Charlie Day, plot to kill their evil employers.

“I just think Jason and Charlie are so great,” he says. “I watched and thought, ‘Golly, they're so frickin' funny. I hope people are all right with me.’”

The plot sounds sinister, but the movie isn't serious in any way.

“I don't know if any of our characters go through an emotional arc,” he laughs. “It never gets too dark. There's not going to be any copycat situations. It's not going to start things up around the country, or the world for that matter.”

It's a buddy comedy expanded to three, just like another big hit this summer, The Hangover Part 2. “People, if they want to be crappy about it will say, ‘Oh, they want to be The Hangover,’ but it is totally different.”

I mention a tweet someone sent after seeing Horrible Bosses. “Three is the new two,” it read.

“I've been working on my own theory that four is the new rule of comedy in this new generation,” he says. “One establishes the premise, two hits it, third is the punch line, then the fourth one is a comment on what the first three were.”

Horrible Bosses is being released amidst the crash, boom, bang of the summer blockbusters. I ask him if he's concerned about competing with the likes of Transformers.

“Out of the movies that are being released around it, it's the one I would go see,” he says. “I just happen to be in it, which is nice.”

Welcome to the animal house

► Kevin James makes a family film that will entertain kids — and adults

HEIDI PATALANO
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Does the idea of Kevin James starring in a comedy alongside a bunch of talking zoo animals sound ridiculous? Maybe a little corny? Kevin James himself would agree with that.

"I was immediately not into doing an animal movie," he confesses. "It just felt so kinda goofy to me to do it, and then as I started thinking about it more — if we could make it a great story where you didn't need animals, they're just kind of like buddies that could add to the film, I started getting more and more interested in it."

That's how the King of Queens star made his peace with starring in Zookeeper, in which he plays a zoo employee and animal lover who feels he must ditch the job he loves in order to impress an ex who is reconsidering him. Once the animals reveal they can talk, they coach James' character on how to win his lady back.

The actor is pleased with the end result of the film, but working directly with live zoo animals was another story.

"The bears were close to us and all I would do was just plan my escape route," he says. "Like, 'I know the cameraman's a smoker. I could push him in the way and then I'll be back in my trailer watching Sports Center.' That's the way I would plan it and it was scary at times."

► Kevin James alongside his primate co-star in Zookeeper.

The animals are voiced by some Hollywood juggernauts — Adam Sandler, Cher, Nick Nolte, Sylvester Stallone, Judd Apatow and Jon Favreau — all of whom, James says, were excited about the strength of the film's script.

"They felt like it was going to be a good movie and they decided to jump on board and so it makes it easier for any character when you know who is

"I've always loved physical comedy ... I loved Jackie Gleason — anybody who was big and could move, I like a lot."

KEVIN JAMES, ON THE DEMANDS OF HIS ROLE IN ZOOKEEPER

playing that part," he says, referencing the process of acting with their voice performances in mind.

One thing the star is also adamant about was his desire to make a family film. "We just wanted it to be a funny, funny movie for everybody, where you can feel comfortable bringing your kids," he says. "I've gone to movies with my kids and I'm bored out of my skull. There's just no comedy for adults so I wanted something where it's comedy for everybody."

A rising star in Falling Skies

► Toronto's Connor Jessup is living out his own Spielberg fantasy

► Connor Jessup keeps his eye on the stars at the L.A. premiere of Falling Skies.

CHRIS ALEXANDER
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

From Steven Spielberg, the man who gave the world some of the most imaginative pop sci-fi entertainment in history, comes Falling Skies, the hotly anticipated alien invasion TV series premiering in Canada on July 6th on Superchannel, but already running to great acclaim on the TNT network in the U.S.

The eerie, action-packed fantasy drama takes place six months after a global extraterrestrial takeover and stars ER's Noah Wyle, whose efforts to find and liberate his son from the clutches of the space monsters sets the serialized plot in motion. Playing the unfortunate captive teen is Canada's own Connor Jessup, a rising star who has skipped a step on his career ladder by landing such a coveted role.

"This is unlike any other alien invasion show I've ever seen," says the articulate, intelligent 16-year-old heartthrob.

"The 'wow' moment of the invasion is over and the government and military are non-existent so the show is more about the survivors, the normal people banding together to try to fight the invaders and try to rebuild a society."

A native of Toronto, Jessup got his start on The Comedy Network's The John Dore show, which led to a major role in the Australian teen TV series The Saddle Club (to which he also occasionally contributed creatively). But his work on Falling Skies serves as a primal professional scream to the Hollywood machine that he's here to stay and is an on-screen presence to be reckoned with.

"I still haven't quite wrapped my head around that I'm working on a Steven Spielberg show," marvels Jessup of his good fortune.

"Steven was in Europe making Warhorse when we filmed the show so even though this was his pet project and he was very involved in conception, cutting trailers, creature design, character development and plot, he was rarely a presence on-set. I went back to high school after finishing the season so even now, it all seems kind of like a dream..."

Head to Spruce Grove for best of both worlds

► Canada Day celebrations previews Edmonton Street Performers Festival

BACKSTAGE PASS

JENNIFER LARAWAY
METRO EDMONTON

Road trip or city celebrations?

It's always a toss-up when deciding what to do on Canada Day, but this year you can get the best of both worlds by heading half an hour west of the city to Spruce Grove.

Their celebrations include performance previews from Edmonton's famous Street Performers festival. This teaser to one of the most popular festivals in Edmonton all began in 2001 when Lawrie Seligman got her new job as the Director of Cultural Services for Spruce Grove.

One of the first items on her agenda was to make a call to an old friend — Shelley Switzer, Artistic Producer of the Edmonton International Street Performers Festival. The two struck a deal that has paid off for both cities ever since.

When speaking about the street performers appearing in Spruce Grove and Edmonton, Switzer says, "This is a way to extend their stay in the area, share the costs of bringing them here, and providing international-level artists to

Performances

Spruce Grove that we wouldn't be able to afford on our own."

But despite all the similarities, Switzer, who starts planning the celebration in September, says the experience is very different from the capital city.

"People say it's got the feel of a small town rather than a big downtown city. We're in a big field, there's lots of space for people to move around in, lots of bouncers and free crafts for kids. Our fireworks display isn't nearly as grand as in Edmonton, but you get a lot closer to the action," she says.

The whole thing kicks off at 8 a.m. with a free pancake breakfast at the Spruce Grove Composite High School sports field (1000 Calahoo Road).

After Canada Day celebrations at noon, the street performers take centre stage ... or centre field to do what they do best.

All the entertainment is free, but remember to bring cash for the street performers and face painters. For a complete itinerary, head to sprucegrove.org/celebrate.

► Performers from all over the world hit up Spruce Grove before moving onto Edmonton's Street Performer Festival.

'I always said I would have a baby at 30'

► Beyoncé opens up to Piers Morgan about getting older and being a diva, just as her new album, 4, starts buzzing

PIERS MORGAN: What was it like for you headlining the Glastonbury Festival? To play a crowd that big?

BEYONCÉ: Well, before I performed, I was so scared.

I was like a leaf. Just — I was really, really afraid. And I just had to say forget that it's 175,000 people and pretend it's just like the show you did two days ago and you have been doing this your whole life. And just have fun. And, you know, we all got together, said our prayer. We took our breath and tried to exhale all the negativity and I just had to tell myself, I deserve it. I'm a diva. I've worked hard. And I psyched myself up, and once you hear the crowd and you get past the first couple of minutes, then it's time to rock. It's time to have a good time and enjoy it.

I love that phrase. I'm a diva. You say that proudly.
I do.

A lot of stars, you know, they sort of shy away, "I'm not a diva." You love being a diva.
Well, I've met what a diva is supposed to be. And I've met Patti LaBelle and I've met Tina Turner and I've met these incredible women that are graceful.

I keep hearing how shy you are.

I don't know. I think I — for one, I'm not shy anymore.

I am the person at the dinner party that is quiet and observing and having a one-on-one conversation. I get embarrassed when it's a lot of people and a lot of eyes.

And I am still that way. I wouldn't say shy. But now, you know, on the stage, I have been doing it for a while. And it's my place to be me and to be free.

And I don't feel like I'm being judged. I feel like it doesn't matter how irritated I am or angry I am or excited or in love or whatever emotion.

You are 29 years old.
Yes.

And in September—
I'll be 30.

The looming, dooming big 30 is emerging in your life. You are pretending to be very, very thrilled about this. Are you?

I can't wait, because 29 is very strange. You are still in your 20s, but you feel like you are supposed to be 30. And I feel like a woman. I feel like I am very aware of who I am and I feel great. And I feel like 30 is the ideal age. Because you are mature enough to know who you are...

It's beginning to sound a bit like your mother, which makes me think you are now heading to the right kind of time in your life—
I'm turning into my mom.

No, I didn't say that.
You are trying to say I need to have a baby.

I didn't even ask the question.
OK. I always said I would have a baby at 30.

Exactly.
But I also said I was going to retire at 30. So, I don't know.

Can we expect the little pitter of little Beyoncé and Jay-Zs?

Only God knows.

Alicia Keys talks inspiration, image and motherhood

Looking back 10 years after Songs in A Minor shot her to stardom

Music critics are invited to see burgeoning singer-songwriters almost every day. But when a request came across this writer's desk to see a young singer-songwriter at an intimate showcase 10 years ago, it carried with it high expectations.

Backed by music mogul Clive Davis, Alicia Keys was billed as a cross between Lauryn Hill and Whitney Houston — a gritty, cornrow-wearing R&B singer who was a brilliant, classically trained pianist with both a stunning voice and beauty. Grammy Awards and multi-platinum sales were more than hoped for, they were expected. And Keys delivered on all the hype when her debut, Songs in A Minor, was released in 2001. The album established the 20-year-old as one of the most influential artists of her generation. But looking back, Keys says she didn't expect the album would make her a superstar.

"This had been a lot of years of me struggling to put out any music, and there had been multiple times where we were like, 'Oh, it's gonna happen, it's gonna happen,' and it didn't. So in a lot of ways in my mind, I think maybe I was protecting myself," she recalled. The album is being re-released this week with special editions that include unreleased tracks and video footage. Keys, who married music producer Swizz Beatz and gave birth to a son last year, will also perform songs from the album at a concert at New York's Beacon Theatre on Thursday.

The Associated Press: In the video that accompanies the re-release, you talk about how you weren't the refined girl people expected. What were the adjustments that

"It's made me so much stronger, it's made me so much more powerful. First of all, I'm having more fun than I've ever had in my whole life. I'm happier than I've ever been in my whole life."

ALICIA KEYS ON MOTHERHOOD

you had to make over the years, and how have you changed?

Keys: I was straight off the streets of Harlem and Hell's Kitchen. ... I'm a real New York girl. So I think that was kind of a bit of a shock for people, especially back then, to see a real New York girl, and here I was doing all of these interviews. ... When I look back at them, I'm like, 'Damn, Alicia, you could have been a little gentler.' I just had a certain kind of roughness to me. That was just because that's the way I associated with people at the time ... I remember reading a couple of things where they literally kind of criticized the way that I used my hands, or the way that I spoke, or say that I was whatever because I spoke a certain way. There were a lot of judgments ... that definitely made me conscious about how to start to maybe be a little bit more aware of how I was coming off ... but I'm still the same me.

How have you musically evolved?

(What) I really learned about music is that you don't understand it. That's the part about it. There really is no formula ... it's all about a gift, it's like a moment, and you don't know when that moment is going to come.

▶ Britney Spears, Lady Gaga, Nicki Minaj: who will you have stuck in your head all season? Start here to find out.

PAT HEALY
SCENE@METRONews.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN BOSTON

There are no awards for the song of summer, just the honour of worming your tune into the collective consciousness during the most nostalgic season of the year.

And yet, to achieve song of the summer status requires more than just the hallmarks of a hit song.

It helps to have at least two of the following: laid-back vibe, a seize-the-night message, whistling, a few woah ohs or la las, funny lyrics, a booze and/or pop culture reference.

And perhaps most importantly, they all need to have that one part that will function as an in-joke between you and your friends regarding whatever summer situation you find yourself in.

The Edge of Glory by Lady Gaga

Like a great summer night, this song is all about living in the moment. It is also the type of tune that you hear once and you already know it, with its huge buildup to the anthemic chorus, which takes place about 10 times in the song. This makes for convenient group singalongs on the way to the beach.

Give Me Everything by Pitbull (featuring Ne-Yo, Afrojack and Nayer)

Employing the same seize-the-night ethos that make the Gaga and Britney songs work, Pitbull raps a "got it locked up like Lindsay Lohan" line as well as an "I might drink a little more than I should" line as Ne-Yo delivers the catchy chorus. You'll be playing this as you get ready to go out because you know you'll be hearing it when you hit the clubs.

I Wanna Go by Britney Spears

Britney has always been great at looking at what other people are doing, and saying, "Hey, that looks cool. Let me try!" and totally kicking ass at it. Here she runs away with the catchy whistling and the "I wanna go all the way ay/Takin' out my freak tonight" party message.

The sounds of summer

Super Bass by Nicki Minaj/ Where Them Girls At by David Guetta Featuring Flo Rida and Nicki Minaj

This summer belongs to Nicki.

If only we could be certain that a third song she appeared on would be huge, we could call it a Minaj-a-trois. But we're certain that these two bangers are contenders for the song of summer.

There's something so likable about her voice, whether she's singing or rapping. She's funny, dirty and within these two jams, she effortlessly references Slick Rick, Led Zeppelin and soul singer Peabo Bryson.

The line you'll be singing: "Somebody tell him who the eff I is."

● PAT HEALY

The Lazy Song by Bruno Mars

The formula here is Jason Mraz + Sublime, but it's hard to dock Bruno Mars points for borrowing since this song is all about being lazy. The beat is just begging for a traffic jam, where you will roll down the window and thump your hand on the outside of the car door. Anyone within earshot will be whistling along. The pop culture references abound ("Teach Me How to

PSSST...
DOWNLOAD YOUR FREE METRO
ANDROID APP HERE

Android is a trademark of Google Inc.

Dougie") and the vapid girl who says "ohmigod, this is great" about doing the deed with him is really funny.

Tonight Tonight by Hot Chelle Rae

This one has pretty much everything a song of summer should: A huge woah oh oh chorus, an easy beat, pop culture references galore ("I woke up with a strange tattoo, not sure how I got it, not a dollar in my pocket/And it kinda looks just like you, mixed with Zach Galifianakis"), funny lyrics and that carpe nocte chorus of "We're going at it tonight, tonight/There's a party on the rooftop top of the world."

Pricetag by Jessie J (featuring B.o.B.)

"We just wanna make the world dance," sings Jessie J in a sexy Brit plea against a chill "Ooh Child" groove. But Jessie is actually calling for a return to a pre-MTV worldview. "We need to take it back in time/When music made us all unite/And it wasn't low blows and video hos."

Last Friday Night (T.G.I.F) by Katy Perry

"Pictures of last night ended up online, I'm screwed/oh well, it's a blacked out blur, but I'm pretty sure it ruled." There really isn't much more that needs to be said about Perry's hilarious hangover ditty. If you go the whole summer without busting out in the T.G.I.F. chant in this song, then you might not be able to call yourself a member of modern society.

Pumped Up Kicks by Foster the People

This third whistler on the list is actually a dark song about taking revenge on bullies. But when singer Mark Foster, who sounds like he's talking from an interrogation room during the verse, bursts into the celebratory chorus, it's easy to sing along, even if you don't realize you're saying, "you'd better run faster than my bullet."

Wetsuit by the Vaccines

The Vaccines sound like a cooler Coldplay here. With its repeated incantation of "we all got old at break-neck speed," this song was tailor made for a yearbook quote.

Every Teardrop is a Waterfall by Coldplay

Speaking of Coldplay, we should probably put them on here. Though we like the Vaccines song better, this one is definitely one of the tunes you will be hearing a lot of in these next few months, especially as the release date of their next album creeps closer in early fall.

Ice Cream by Battles

This manically sexy song has a manically sexy video. You know what else is sexy? Summertime!

THE BEST OF 2011 (SO FAR)

SOUND CHECK

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONEWS.CA

If you're reading this, chances are you still care about buying albums and CDs. And as we pass into the second half of 2011, here are my picks for the best albums of the year (so far) in alphabetical order.

Adele/21: Unstoppable. People are discovering that Adele is the Real Deal. There's little hype promoting this record. It's selling exclusively on the strength of the songs.

Beastie Boys/Hot Sauce Committee Part Two: MCA, dude, that cancer thing really scared us. How did you guys crank out such a solid record while all that Big C stuff was going down?

Bon Iver/Bon Iver: More divine melancholy music from the saddest man in Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

The Dears/Degeneration Street: In the business, they call this kind of CD "a career-defining release." It's made the Long List for the Polaris Music Prize.

EMA/Past Life of Martyred Saints: South Dakotan Erika M. Anderson turns her noise-folk into something that PJ Harvey probably has in her iPod.

F—ed Up/David Comes to Life: No one in this Toronto hardcore band can explain the libretto of this rock opera. No matter. The ride is satisfying enough.

Foo Fighters/Wasting Light:

This record is more proof that the Foos are as close to a perfectly constructed modern rock band as we're ever going to see.

PJ Harvey/Let England Shake: Harvey is a shape-and-genre shifter, with each album sounding completely different. Moving from woozy to fierce and back again, I hear something new each time I put on this CD.

Finding her own voice

► Vocalist Ledisi on her new album, and most famous fan

In 2004, singer-songwriter Ledisi — fed up with the pressure to conform to the mainstream music industry's female singer template — was ready to walk away from the biz. But persistence paid off — Verve signed the jazz-influenced star in the making, allowing her to record the albums Lost & Found and Turn Me Loose, both of which were nominated for two Grammys. Last week marked the release of her latest effort, Pieces of Me, so we caught up with the singer to talk about the message behind her self-confidence anthems and one of her most famous supporters — Michelle Obama.

Michelle Obama is a fan.

What was it like meeting her?

She's very down to Earth. She turned people she knew to my music ... And she invited me to participate in a women's mentoring program. It was a huge confidence boost.

On your new album, Hate Me and Shut Up are pretty powerful songs.

Hate Me is a song to celebrate the independence of women — women who don't chase after men. No matter what age group, people go bananas over this song because they can relate ... Shut Up is a song going against what negative things people would say. I would never change my image to fit in. I was always about being yourself.

Just a regular kid, who sings like Streisand

► People says 11-year-old Jackie Evancho has the voice of an angel

When Jackie Evancho was a young girl — well, younger than her 11 years — she remembers singing songs like “Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star” around the house and getting a response far less adoring than the ovations she now commands.

“My family thought I was horrible,” she says with a laugh, adding that things changed after her tonsils were removed.

Her father, Mike, has a decidedly different take. He and his wife, Lisa, always thought Jackie had a nice voice, but didn't think it was much more than that.

“We didn't know it was anything special until she did a local talent competition,” he recalls of his daughter, the second eldest of four.

“The reaction from people kind of said, ‘Hey, she might have a better voice than we thought.’”

Talk about an understatement.

David Foster — who has worked with vocal powerhouses including Barbra Streisand, Whitney Houston, Josh Groban and Celine Dion — says of Jackie's voice: “I've never seen a mature voice like this in all my years. It's just amazing.”

Much like a preteen Charlotte Church did a decade ago, Jackie has voice that belies her age and diminutive stature.

Though there is a youthful quality in Jackie's voice, it's hardly child-like: It's a soprano that deftly traverses the musical scales with power and grace.

Though she may not be ready for the operatic stage, she effortlessly sings songs like Nessun Dorma and Somewhere (with Streisand) on her album debut.

Even when she's singing the Disney classic When You Wish Upon a Star, she sounds light-years away from most of her childhood peers.

“I don't really think much of my voice, and I don't try to think much of my voice, but if I had to describe my voice, I mean — I've heard people say that my voice is angelic, so I guess it's angelic,” says Jackie, wearing a cute sundress in the picturesque offices of her label headquarters, with her father sitting in the room.

► Jackie will be touring the U.S. during the summer.

“I've also heard people say my voice is horrible,” she adds with a laugh.

“I really don't know how my voice is. To me it's a child's voice. It's just a normal voice to me.

That's what I hear in my head. I know I hear some quality, but I don't hear what everyone's talking about, where I sound like a 20-year-old opera singer. I don't hear that.”

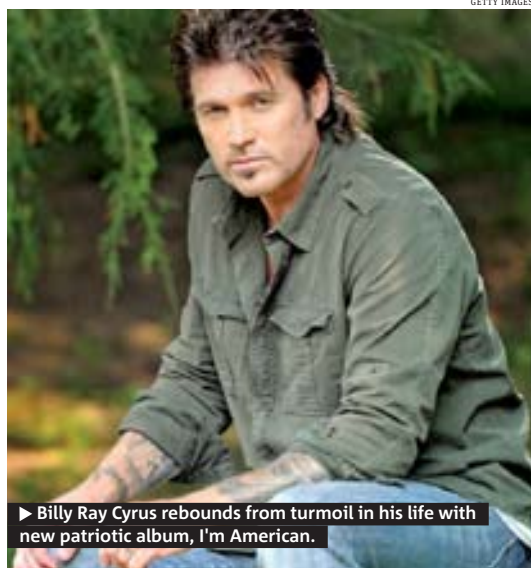

She also doesn't act like one either — except in the studio, says Foster, who is the producer of Jackie's album.

Got talent

Jackie was the runner-up on America's Got Talent last year, and she's been winning in every way since.

- Her Christmas EP, “O Holy Night,” went platinum after its release last fall.
- Her first official album, “Dream With Me,” debuted at No. 2, behind an Eminem collaboration, after its release earlier this month.
- Both Susan Boyle and Barbra Streisand appear on her new CD
- Oprah Winfrey requested her presence on one of her final goodbye shows ► Billy Ray Cyrus rebounds from turmoil in his life with new patriotic album, I'm American.

Billy Ray Cyrus — America

Billy Ray Cyrus' life has seen a lot of upheaval in the past year.

He nearly got divorced, endured public scrutiny of his daughter Miley's behaviour and a resulting backlash over his parenting, and saw the end of Hannah Montana, the Disney phenomenon that changed the Cyruses' lives forever.

But even though Cyrus has lived out his drama in the tabloids, he believes everyone can identify with his struggles.

“I've been through a lot,” Cyrus said.

“That being said, I think people around the world can look at my life and say, ‘That guy is kind of just like us — peaks and valleys, ups and downs.’”

“That's what I've lived. Somewhere along the line, I think I just realized that the key to life for me and for everybody on this planet, it's not about how many times you get knocked down, it's about how many times you get back up. Everybody has adversities. Everybody has crossroads.”

That's especially true of members of the military, who have been on Cyrus' mind since the early days of his career.

He salutes them on his new album, I'm American, out Tuesday.

He offers seven new songs on the Buddy Cannon-produced I'm American and a remake of Some Gave All, the title track to his multi-platinum debut album that also included his breakthrough, Achy Breaky Heart.

That remake includes appearances by Jamey Johnson, Craig Morgan and Darryl Worley.

“Three guys that not only are they veterans themselves, but they also just sing with their voices and the power and the realism that they put into the song. For me as the writer, to hear them sing it was just absolutely an awesome experience,” Cyrus said.

Cyrus, who also hosts TLC's military-themed show Homecomings, has performed regularly for troops overseas, visited military hospitals, and says those who serve are never far from his thoughts.

Halle Berry's custody battle getting nasty

► Actress files paperwork accusing her ex-husband of neglectful behaviour

Halle Berry's custody battle with ex Gabriel Aubry over their daughter, Nahla, isn't getting any friendlier, according to Us Weekly.

The Oscar-winning actress appeared in family court in L.A. this week, submitting paperwork that accused Aubry of being neglectful and of violating an earlier custody agreement.

Aubry was not present for the court appearance.

"Halle has serious concerns for her daughter's well-being while in the care of her father for any extended period of time and is prepared to take all necessary steps to protect her," Berry's rep said when the custody battle began in January.

Madonna after another child

Despite the collapse of her previous plans to build a school in Malawi, Madonna hasn't given up on helping the impoverished African nation.

The singer is now working on plans to build an orphanage there, according to E! Online.

"My short-term goals are to build an orphan care center that will service and reach at least 1,000 children, and I'm also actively involved in funding several orphanages that already exist," she says.

Madonna has previously tried a number of times to adopt impoverished kids.

Sex addict split?

David Duchovny and Tea Leoni have separated, their reps confirm to TMZ.

Sources tell the website that while the actors are taking some time apart, they have not yet decided if they will file for divorce.

The couple previously separated in 2008, later reconciling after Duchovny entered rehab for sex addiction.

They have two children, a daughter, 12, and a son, 9. ● METRO

Talking points

Reason for divorce? "It's Mel Gibson"

BEST ANSWER EVER. After two years of negotiations, Mel Gibson and his wife, Robyn Moore, have reportedly reached a divorce settlement, according to Hollyscoop.

The terms of the agreement have not been disclosed, and the official paperwork isn't expected to be filed until August. The couple had no prenuptial agreement, and they jointly own three homes in Malibu, an island in Fiji and a ranch in Costa Rica. When Moore initially filed for divorce in April 2009, she wrote in the reason for the split as "It's Mel Gibson."

Falling out of Love – literally

DOUBLE ENTENDRE INTENDED Courtney Love has reportedly split from Henry Allsopp, a British art dealer and the godson of Camilla, Duchess of Cornwall, according to the Daily Express.

And while Love is certainly upset about the breakup, apparently the same can't necessarily be said for Allsopp's family.

"She had moved in within a month of meeting Henry last November and made herself quite at home," a source tells the Daily Express. "Most of the family were rather alarmed by how besotted he was and feared she had delusions of landing herself a title — she used to joke about becoming Lady Love."

LaToya Jackson seems like maybe the nicest person on the planet. She needs a big hug. Am I right?"

@lindsaylohan

"Have you guys seen food and gas prices lately? U.S. $ will soon be worthless if the Fed keeps printing money!"

@JimCarrey

"I'm in NY because I heard they need another crazy person walkin' around."

@SteveMartinToGo

"I've decided not to sue Google over stealing my idea about calling me up and asking me anything"

J-Lo not the star she thinks she is

NO PAY RAISE FOR YOU Jennifer Lopez has said she's "on the fence" about returning to American Idol next season, but sources close to the show claim the singer is simply angling for a pay hike — and it could cost her the whole gig, according to Popeater.

Producers are reportedly already discussing replacements — including Shania Twain and Shakira — for Lopez, who earned $12 million for her first season as a judge on the reality competition.

"Right now the star of American Idol is Steven Tyler," a source says.

► The story of how David Gandy and Dolce & Gabbana brought sexy back

METRO WORLD NEWS

"I'm a big believer in, 'don't believe in your own hype,'" says David Gandy. As muse to Dolce & Gabbana, he's arguably the world's most famous male model of today. But as he says, "I wouldn't have the audacity to call myself a supermodel."

This is a man who walks down runways dressed in nothing but tightie whities for a living, so you might assume he's being facetious. You'd be wrong.

We met at his model agency in London following the especially lavish, movie-star style launch in Milan of his eponymous book by Dolce & Gabbana. "It's been a surreal weekend, going from driving a classic

"I have more determination than a lot of people and I'm absolutely stubborn."

GANDY ON HIS SUCCESS

Gandy assures me he asserted when making the book, which includes more than a few butt shots and photos of him playfully holding phallic-shaped objects near his mouth. He explains: "For a lot of the photos, [Domenico and Stefano] probably wanted to go further than me, but we reigned it in a bit," he says.

In fashion terms, the union of man and brand was a game changer. "People said I changed the industry but it wasn't me, it was Dolce & Gabbana and Mario Testino. We did the white pants in Light Blue and then [Emporio] Armani followed with David Beckham," he says. Gandy represented a breakaway from the effete-looking, super skinny Dior guy that had become so popular.

A waif, Gandy is not. And he'll be promoting his muscle man ethos with his very own fitness and nutrition iPhone app later this year.

"After 10 years in the industry, I can actually say what, fitness-wise, absolutely works. There'll be new techniques from the U.S. and I'll be simplifying complex terms," he says. Sounds like supermodel material to us.

Why he's so famous

► It was Gandy's hot-blooded, Adonis-like masculinity in the Dolce & Gabbana Light Blue fragrance campaign (above) that got him noticed for all the right reasons by housewives and jealous husbands around the world.

Triumph around with a police escort and everyone screaming one day to going back to Sainsbury's supermarket the next," the 30-year-old says.

Yes, David Gandy goes to the supermarket. He may be shaped like an inverted triangle with abs of steel but he is, in layman's terms, a regular, "nice guy" working in a notoriously bitchy field. How has an unassuming man made it to the top of one of the most notoriously back-stabby industries? "I have more determination than a lot of people and I'm absolutely stubborn," he says.

He's so headstrong, in fact, that he once stormed out of an important casting when asked to shave his trademark mane.

"They said, 'That's our look and that's what we have to do but it's your choice if you want to leave,'" he explains. "So I packed my bags and left."

It's a willfulness that

Life's a beach

► Summery decor evokes sun and surf and brings the best of the beach indoors — minus the annoying sand between your toes

If you've ever carted home some unfortunate monstrosity from a beach vacation and rued it, take heart.

That's not the kind of beach decor we're talking about here.

This summer, retailers are offering decor that evokes the sand and surf, but with a sophistication that makes it work as a seasonal accent to most rooms no matter what your decorating style.

Get creative when hunting for something interesting and seasonal; often, you'll find it at a store you might not usually go to.

Surf's up

- Bring some sea-life elements to a couple of walls with Pottery Barn's mounted faux sea urchin collection, set in a soft white frame.
- Branches of rosy coral are silkscreened on linen to make an elegant wall hanging.
- Pretty cast-stone terracotta starfish, and shells, washed white and framed also evoke the ocean.

Wall mounted "surfboards" give the cottage (or city apartment) a laid-back spot to hang a jacket.

PBTeen has a host of quirky yet delightful items that evoke the theme: a tabletop angel fish fashioned from driftwood bits; wire art, including jaunty starfish hooks; a mountable shark's head whose toothy maw can be used as a receptacle for beach hats, dog leashes and so on.

A day's beachcombing often yields some lovely finds, such as gently hued, water-washed glass.

At Beach Grass Cottage, they've gathered up lots of the stuff, and their artisans have made lampshade and mirror trims, as well as wreaths that can be custom ordered in shades of milky white, pastel pink, aqua and even a few brighter blues.

There are alphabet letters encrusted with sea glass, too — what a great house present.

Open the door to curb appeal

► They say not to judge a book by its cover — but buyers often judge a home by its door ► Give your house a facelift by making the entranceway inviting

DIY IDEAS

Painting your front door will give your home years worth of curb appeal, and will add personality with your colour choice.

These tips for painting your front door come from licensed contractor Jason Cameron, host of Desperate Landscapes on DIY Network Canada.

Cameron's show transforms neglected backyards into landscape showpieces — all in just one day.

Prep the door

With help, remove the door and place it on sawhorses for cleaning and painting. Remove all of the hardware, including doorknob, peephole and knocker.

Wash the door and allow it to dry. If there are any cracks in the door, patch them with quick-drying wood filler.

Once dry, sand down the filler so that the patch is smooth with the door.

Prime the door

There's no need to prime if the paint is already in good condition, but if you are using a dark colour it's advisable to use primer.

Prime all six sides of the door — front, back, top, bottom, and sides, and let dry completely.

Any part not primed will absorb moisture.

If there are still cracks after priming, fill them with caulk and prime overtop once again.

Once dry, use sandpaper to get rid of any paint drips or unevenness in the panels, then use an old paintbrush to clean off the dust from sanding.

Paint the door

Use an angled sash brush and begin by painting the corners of the panels, working from top to bottom.

Do not use too much paint, and ensure that it does not puddle.

Use a roller to paint the rest of the door, following the grain of the wood.

Begin with the raised

► Personalize your front door with a paint colour and style of your choice.

panels, then the top and bottom, sides, and finally the outside edges.

Continue with as many coats as necessary to achieve your desired colour, each time starting with the sash brush and following with the roller in the order described.

Once completely dry, reattach the door and enjoy a beautiful facelift for your home!

If you read my column on Tuesday, you know I'm a professional Butler — and I'm here to help you sort through life's how-to's.

every other Thursday, I'm offering my best advice on managing your home.

So, please send your questions to askcharles-thebutler@metronews.ca and remember to look for this column every other Thursday.

Let's start with our first question!

Question: Is there a correct way to place toilet paper on the toilet paper holder?!

Answer: As a matter of fact, there is!

► It's all about the little things: A correctly placed toilet paper roll is a nice touch in any bathroom.

The toilet paper roll is meant to go over not under, that is UNLESS you have a cat.

If you are a cat owner, you will want the toilet paper to go under to save yourself lots of grief.

Having the toilet roll go over provides nothing but encouragement to a playful cat to make a mess and unroll the toilet roll so that you have a mess when you wake up in the morning!

Homegrown lettuce needs a cool head

► Regular waterings will make garden lettuce taste much better

Homegrown lettuce is so tasty and tender for salads. It's also cold-hardy, so can be enjoyed almost year round, the earliest salad fixings coming from transplants that begin as seeds sown indoors in winter, and the latest ones from plants sheltered beneath plastic or glass tents.

But special tricks are needed to pick lettuce from the garden now, when it's hot. This time of year, lettuce tends to bolt — that is, to flower and make seeds.

Once a flower stalk starts pushing up through the whorl of leaves, those leaves turn bitter and tough. So one way to keep your salad bowl filled with tasty lettuce is to keep sowing seeds so you always have young plants to eat.

Plant lettuce about every three weeks all summer. Just a little at a time, though, since three weeks after you start eating one planting you'll be eating the next sowing's harvest.

Celebrate our diverse food identity

4 servings
Prep time:
10 mins.
Cooking:

► The addition of jerk seasoning gives this burger a kick.

What better way to celebrate Canada Day than in the backyard with family and friends?

This year, while you're toasting the nation's 144th birthday, incorporate unique food items that reflect the multiculturalism of our country with these Grilled Honey & Lime Prawns and Jamaican Jerk Burgers.

Jerk seasoning, a Jamaican marinade that is normally used with chicken, gives the burger a new twist.

Meanwhile, the combination of honey and lime in the prawns perfectly balances sweet and sour.

From the editors of Creative Homeowner, Canada Grills! not only features recipes but also an introduction to grilling, barbecue and smoking terms, temperatures, tips by Barry "CB" Martin, and more than 50 of CB's EZ recipes.

Jamaican Jerk Burgers

Preparation:

1 To make the burgers, whisk together lime juice, soy sauce, ground ginger, and Jamaican jerk seasoning. Then mix in the beef, pork or turkey (whichever you are using) until everything is combined, taking care not to over-mix. Form the mixture into patties; grill.

2 For the Chipotle-Lime Mayonnaise, bring the egg yolks to room temperature. In a food processor, purée the yolks, lime juice, chipotle purée, cilantro, salt and white pepper. Once everything is fully incorporated, slowly drizzle in olive oil while the food processor is still running.

Note: To avoid consuming raw eggs for health reasons, use pasteurized eggs, or substitute about 1½ cups store-bought mayonnaise for eggs and oil.

ADAPTED FROM CANADA GRILLS! (PUBLISHED BY CREATIVE HOMEOWNER, 2011, SADDLE RIVER, N.J.)

Ingredients:

- 1 pound ground beef, pork, or turkey
- 2 tablespoons lime juice
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 2 teaspoons ground ginger
- 4 tablespoons Jamaican jerk seasoning

Chipotle-Lime Mayonnaise

- 2 egg yolks
- 3 teaspoons lime juice
- 1 teaspoon chipotle purée
- 3 tablespoons cilantro, finely chopped
- Salt and white pepper to taste
- 1 cup olive oil

CB's Grilled Honey & Lime Prawns

3-4 servings
Prep time:
1 hr.
Cooking:
7 - 10 mins

Ingredients:

- 1 pound jumbo prawns (about 21 per pound) cleaned, tails on

Marinade

- 2 tablespoons Italian salad dressing
- 2 tablespoons dry white vermouth
- 1/3 cup Worcestershire sauce
- 1 garlic clove, finely minced
- 2 tablespoons cilantro, finely chopped
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger

Basting sauce

- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1/4 cup honey

Preparation:

1 Combine marinade ingredients in sealable plastic bag, and add prawns. Refrigerate for up to 1 hour. Combine basting-sauce ingredients in a nonreactive bowl, and set aside.

2 Preheat grill to medium high. Place marinated prawns on hot grates. Use tongs to turn, and sear all sides. When seared, remove the prawns to a holding pan away from direct heat.

3 Brush with basting sauce, and allow to finish cooking, about 3 to 5 minutes. Squirt with lime. CANADA GRILLS! (PUBLISHED BY CREATIVE HOMEOWNER, 2011, SADDLE RIVER, N.J.)

Rebuilt Eskimos looking to rebound

JOHN ULAN/THE CANADIAN PRESS

- ▶ Team banking on major roster turnover to get back to post-season
- ▶ Key veterans have left, been traded or shown the door

In the midday heat of training camp, Edmonton head coach Kavis Reed stood with his arms crossed, eyes shrouded by sunglasses, and watched receiver Tyler Scott finish a play at half speed.

"You hustle to the ball," he yelled.

To illustrate the point, he chucked the ball 20 yards downfield.

"Go get it," he shouted.

With his teammates watching, Scott dutifully hustled over, picked up the ball and ran it back.

Eskimos general manager Eric Tillman says 2011 is all about accountability for a team that was 7-11 last year and missed the playoffs for the third time in five seasons.

"Far too often in this business it (the blame) is put on the coaches," he said. "A huge portion of what happened (last year) was some of the players letting the coaches down, so we needed significant change."

Tillman, hired late last season, hasn't just tinkered under the hood with the Eskimos, he's pulled the engine out.

Key veterans have left, been traded or shown the door, including linebacker Maurice Lloyd, kick returner Tristan Jackson, receivers Kamau Peterson and Kelly Campbell, and defensive back Lenny Walls.

Tillman has improved the Canadian talent — something that had been allowed to wither on the vine under former GM Danny Maciocia.

Receiver Chris Bauman, offensive tackle Brian Ramsay and defensive tackle Jermaine Reed have come over from Hamilton. Offensive lineman Scott Mitchell and receiver Nate Coehoorn have arrived via the draft.

First game

Edmonton begins the regular season Sunday night in Regina against the Roughriders.

Reed is also new. A long-time Tillman protege, he was the defensive co-ordinator in Winnipeg last year and gets his first shot in the top job. Rich Stubler is the defensive co-ordinator and Marcus Crandell handles the offence.

The Eskis once again will rise and fall with veteran quarterback Ricky Ray.

At age 31 and entering his ninth season, Ray is a pinpoint passer but one who can't run his way out of trouble.

He has been hampered in recent years by substandard line play but still managed last year to complete two-thirds of his passes for 3,565 yards and 11 touchdowns.

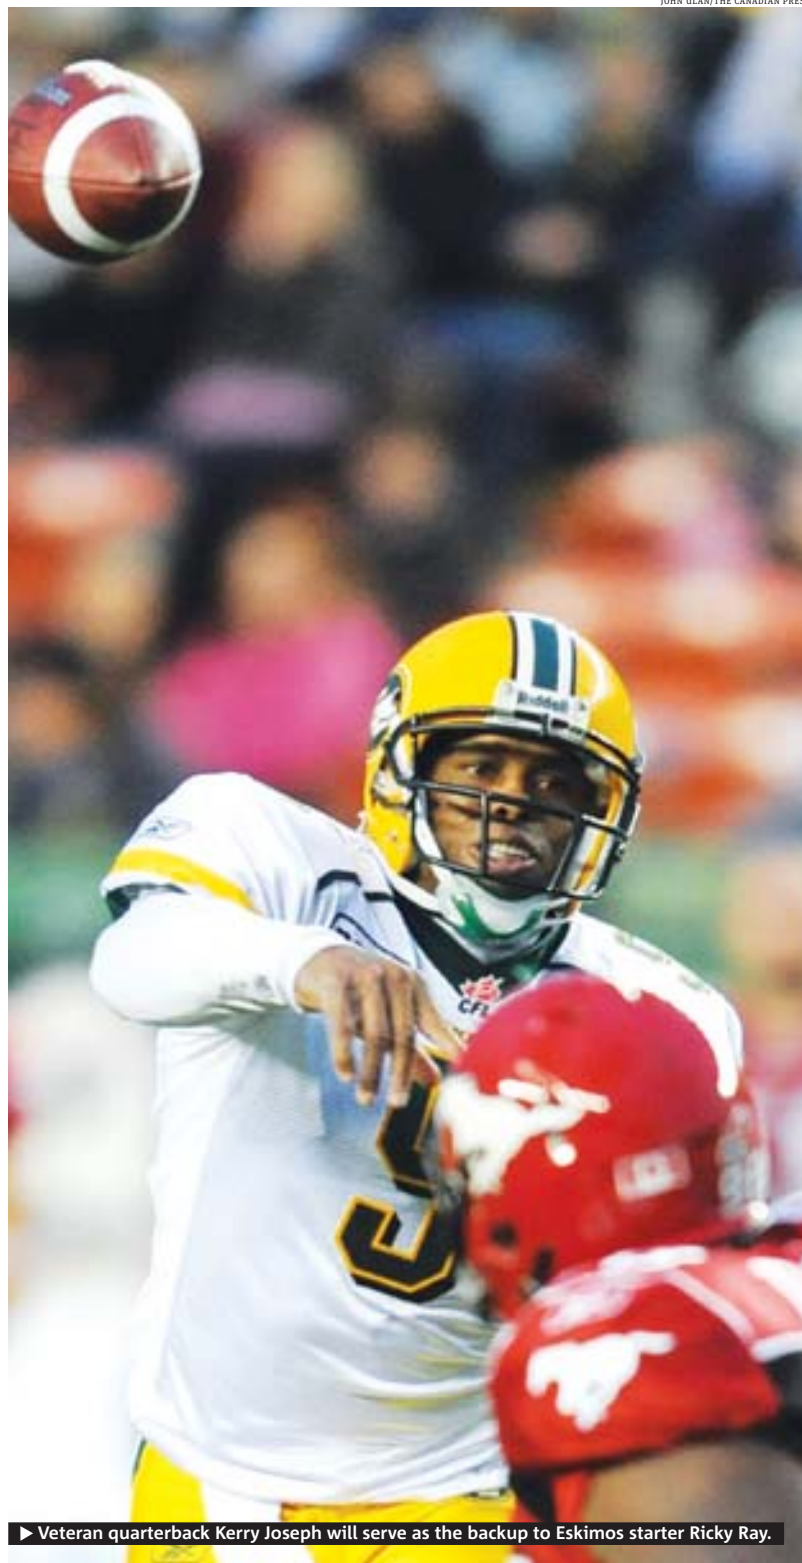

He said the challenge will be yet again learning a new offensive system.

Under the Maciocia regime, offensive co-ordinators literally changed like the seasons, from a straight-ahead offence under Maciocia to a complex check-down system under Jacques Chapdelaine, to a straight-ahead attack under Rick Worman to a razzle-dazzle system under Kevin Strasser.

"I need to get some reps. This is a new offensive system for me," said Ray. "(But) we've got to do it together. We can't just rely on one guy like Fred Stamps to make all the plays for us."

Stamps is the go-to guy on a new receiving corps. The sure-handed slotback led the team in 2010 with 80 catches for 1,223 yards and five TDs.

WHO WILL HOIST THE GREY CUP?

CFL EXTRA POINTS

DAN TOTH
SPORTS@METRONEWS.CA

Throwing away the mortgage money on a potential Grey Cup winner before the season even starts is pure lunacy, especially in the most unpredictable pro sports league on the planet. But we're playing with house money, so let's lay down some odds and project the sure shots, long shots and haven't-got-a-shots for the upcoming 2011 CFL season.

3-1
Montreal

The two-time defending Grey Cup champs have made three straight appearances in the title game and there's no reason to believe "Les Larks" are finished picking up CFL jewelry. QB Anthony Calvillo is another year older (38) and is without SB Ben Cahoon (retired) and RB Avon Cobourne (free agency), but the Als are king of the hill until someone knocks them off.

"First we have to win on Thursday, and then get in the playoffs and win that playoff game, and then we'll get in the Grey Cup. We take it day by day."

MONTREAL DEFENSIVE BACK MARK ESTELLE

4-1
Calgary

The Stamps have 2010 most outstanding player Henry Burris back at the helm and he's always a threat, despite significant changes along the O-line. Burris has Joffrey Reynolds, the CFL's top RB in the backfield. On defence, the secondary is without CBs Brandon Browner (NFL) and Dwight Anderson (free agency). Stamps have plenty to prove after following up their 2008 Grey Cup win with two West final losses.

5-1
Saskatchewan

Significant changes in 2011, including a rebuilt coaching staff under newcomer Greg Marshall, could affect the Green Giants. The Riders also lost SB Andy Fantuz (NFL), but bolstered Darian Durant's O-line with the addition of Alex Gauthier and George Hudson.

6-1
B.C.

The heat's on head coach Wally Buono to get his Lions into the Grey Cup at B.C. Place Stadium in November. Helping his chances is QB Travis Lulay, who proved late last season that he has the arm and leadership ability to get it done. Lulay will have 2010 most outstanding offensive lineman Ben Archibald, a free agent from Calgary, buying him time in the backfield.

10-1
Hamilton

The Tabbies could be contenders in the East but have struggled in the playoffs. The addition of free agent RB Avon Cobourne could provide the missing ingredient in the post-season.

20-1
Edmonton

Top-to-bottom changes this season will make for a long year for the Green and Gold. Could miss the playoffs.

30-1
Toronto

A solid D got the Argos into the East final last year, but they'll go no further without a QB.

50-1
Winnipeg

The Blue Bombers were 4-14 last season, but nine of those losses were by four points or less. A healthy Buck Pierce at quarterback could turn the agony of defeat into the joy of victory, but don't bet on it.

"To me, the only motivation is we didn't win a Grey Cup last year. To me, that's enough for the guys that are here."

Dear Little Cat ;)
Happy Anniversary Baby!!
You've been such a huge part of my life for the past year and I couldn't imagine it without you. You have brought so much happiness into my life. I hope that you know how much I care about you. You keep me grounded, make me feel protected, and loved. You are such an amazing person and I am so lucky to be a part of your life. I love you, so much. S

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 20

To be happy, you need to do things that make a difference not just in your life, but in the lives of others.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 What happens over the next few days has the potential to make your life infinitely more interesting.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

You've found it difficult of late to express yourself. This weekend, you'll make up for it big time.

♊ Cancer June 22-July 22 If there is something you need to say, don't wait any longer. Say it now.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 23

You seem to be spending a lot of time thinking about your future, and that's a good thing. Stay focused on it.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 22 The worst that can happen today is that a gamble doesn't pay off.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 Say the right things to employers and others in positions of power. A few days from now, they may not be in quite such a receptive mood.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Your ability to get on with everyone will pay huge financial rewards.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21

You seem to be flavour of the month now, long may it continue.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20

Mercury in your opposite sign makes it easy to talk but when Mercury changes signs this weekend, you won't sound so smooth.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Usually it's good to plan ahead but there is a lot of uncertainty at the moment, so be flexible.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. Creatively and romantically, you're in for surprises. SALLY BROMPTON
